ALLEGHENY CONFERENCE

Improving the Economic Future & Quality of Life in the Pittsburgh Region

Who We Are:

The Allegheny Conference on Community Development stands as one of America's leading civic leadership organizations, shaping the future of the 10-county Pittsburgh region. For over eight decades, the Conference has been the catalyst uniting private and public sector leaders, all driven by a shared mission: to ignite economic vitality and elevate quality of life for everyone who calls this region home.

Our Regional Investors Council (RIC), a dynamic coalition of more than 250 employers, collaborates to supercharge our region's competitiveness, revitalize communities, and spotlight Pittsburgh as a premier destination for business, talent, and investment.

What sets us apart? We break down barriers between sectors, bringing together the key voices from every corner – industry, higher education, philanthropy, economic development, labor, and government. Our approach is big-picture and action-oriented: we convene, strategize, and lead, aligning efforts to transform the Pittsburgh region for generations to come.

What We Do (Together)

Through our Regional Investors Council, we collectively fuel systemic change that no single company can achieve alone. Together, we:

- Promote the region to talent and investors with a clear, compelling value proposition.
- Steward business and civic leadership to deliver durable, regionwide impact.

Proof & Momentum

- $600M Downtown revitalization efforts advanced with state and local partners.
